OPPORTUNITIES

Know How to Report Sexual and Interpersonal Misconduct

The Equity, Civil Rights, and Title IX Office strives to ensure that all who report a sexual or interpersonal misconduct (SIM)-related experience feel safe, know their rights and are aware of all available resources and options to continue to have the opportunity to be successful. Click here to learn more about how to report an emergency situation or report an incident in person or online. You can even report anonymously.

University-wide Civil Discourse Event: Perspectives on Free Speech on College Campuses

Tuesday, April 23, 5:30-7:50 p.m. in the Hurd Center. Opinions about the place of controversial topics, viewpoint diversity, bias and censorship, and free speech on college campuses vary. These issues seem to divide, with many fearing being "canceled" by others for views they express in class. Join us for a university-wide demonstration of a model for bridging these divides by cultivating curiosity, deep listening, and story sharing. This is an opportunity to observe what our student Bridgebuilding Fellows have learned in the Bridging the Gap program. You will also have the opportunity to engage with others from across campus on why it's so hard to talk to each other. This event is co-sponsored by the Baylor Interdisciplinary Core and the Division of Student Life.

Baylor Symphony at Bass Performance Hall

Plan in advance for the ultimate date night or just make the drive up to Fort Worth with friends to enjoy the Baylor Symphony in one of the premier performance halls in the nation! The concert will take place on April 23, at 7 p.m. Tickets are $20, and more information can be found HERE.
